Make Final Plans Variance Approved; In Opposition To Action Delayed On 1 Multiple Units

Plans of the Concord Estates, Pembroke and Sherwood Forest Civic Associations to oppose any master plan which provides no provision for erection of multiple dwellings in the borough will be completed at a meeting of the associations to be opened at 7 p.m. next Thursday, according to Herbert Ross, spokesman for the group.

"There is no other statement to be made on the matter now," said Ross. "We did say, however, that Harry C. Swenson, president of the Pembroke group, had prepared a letter for distribution to association members, outlining the reasons why the groups had joined together in opposition to such 'paper' street as the designated construction in Mountainside."

"Among the points raised by Swenson," Ross said, "was that multiple dwellings would necessitate the installation of sanitary sewers, call for an enlarged fire department and police department would tend to attract a tenant class."

The joining of the associations for the purpose of opposing the construction of multiple dwellings and opposing any master plan which would allow such buildings to be constructed was announced by Ross last week. He had been appointed spokesman for the associations at a meeting the previous week held in the home of Harold Simon, president of the Sherwood Forest Civic Association.

At the present time there is a small three-room structure used as a dwelling on the Beechwood property. The building has been condemned for removal.

Harry one resident of the area, Frank Mission, of 209 Central Avenue, appeared at the hearing and reported that he and his neighbors "heartily" approved of the new structure as a "decided asset to the neighborhood."

In the case of Steinman, a variance had been granted in 1962 for construction of a dwelling for a one-family home to "further its intent to maintain the one-family character of the town."

A petition is now being drawn to replace the petition calling for a referendum on the issue. Content of the new petition, which is expected to ask signers to put themselves on record in opposition to multiple dwellings, is expected to be released following next Thursday's meeting.

Ross said that a representative of each of the civic groups had met with the plan board during the past year and had expressed opposition to multiple units.

Two persons, Frank Magno and William Winkler, who live near the rear portion of the Steinman property, told the reporter on the grounds that the rear portion of the lot is low and water would drain from it.

Mauro Donatelli and William Tomko, masons, and Robert Taylor, carpenter, have volunteered their help. The work will be done weekends.

The project will cost about $16,000, Magno said. As the share of the project, said the two contractors, a fund drive is being conducted by volunteers working as soon as someone donates the use of a backhoe machine to prepare the footings.

Plans for the building were drawn up by Fred Wilhelm, building contractor, a team uniform manager and former president of the Board of Education. The Little League field is on Deerfield School property.

Robert Simon, who is in charge of the project, said the building will be started in September, weather permitting, and completed by November. The building will be used as a refreshment stand and the other half for storage of equipment and uniforms. Boys now keep their uniforms over the winter and the suits come in the spring.

Big League Setting For Little Leaguers

Mountainside Little Leaguers will feel like pros when the 1965 spring baseball season starts, because they'll have a new field house and refreshment stand, and two new dugouts.

Bipartisan Support Urged In Hunt For Adequate Library Facilities

Local citizens informed the state legislature that more than 20 people, including library cardholders, are in agreement that the state must do something about the space problems and the severe condition of the facilities. As a result, efforts to serve public needs in all reading areas from the beginning through high school are to be made, and a major effort to meet the existing needs of the public is to be undertaken.

Sept. 15 Hearing Set For Measure Hiking Police Pay

A bill introduced in the Senate by Sen. Sam Antoshak of Hawthorne, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, would increase the base pay of police officers from $5,500 to $6,000 over five years.

Antoshak said in first reading at a recent meeting of the Senate that the bill would increase the base pay of police officers between members of the Police Department and the Police Benevolent Association. The Police Committee, which includes Rep. John Hartman, Rep. James J. Hickey and Rep. John P. Williams, has introduced a similar bill.

If the new state law is adopted, a policeman's salary would be increased from a range of $5,500 to $6,000 over five years.

Under the bill, a policeman's base pay would be increased from $5,500 to $6,000 over a three-year period. Other raises would be for sergeant's pay, $7,350 now to $7,500 in the new scale; lieutenant, $7,900 to $8,300; chief, $9,600 to $10,000. Pay would become effective Jan. 1, 1966.

Added to the base pay, proposed by the Antoshak bill, is a present salary for the lieutenant, $7,350.

Consultants Delay No Obstacle Now, Hartung Reports

The Hartung-Hart Associates of Trenton, the consulting firm engaged in the planning of the new library, has not submitted a final report to the city agency. Alistair E. Hartung, head of the Planning Board, told the Echo this week,

Hartung was not even aware that payment was being made to him when the

Planning Board

submitted the final report.

Hartung said the work of the Planning Board since that group would not, in any case, take any action until after Labor Day. The necessary public hearings would not be held during the vacation period. Hartung pointed out, and such hearings will be held before the board gets down to the business of developing a master plan.

The consultants' final report is expected to contain recommendations of ideas to enhance the church-village life of the community.

Won On Referendum

Wester, who presided at the meeting, said that, in 1962 the Police Department chose to put the matter to voter referendum after negotiations with the Council failed to produce the requirements of the PBA. The referendum, asked a 10 per cent increase over a two-year period. The raise was gained when the referendum was approved by voters two to one, Wester said.

He said the longevity proposal will provide "progress" for police officers for accumulated experiences and faithful service to the community. A man with longer service receives a suitable differential over an inexperienced newcomer to police work."

He is 27 years old, developed a love of writing while in seminary and has written a book to help young Christians in their ministry.

The Apostle's Creed, for instance, has lost its meaning because it comes out of a time that we no longer live in, a three-year-old child's concept of heaven, earth and hell explained.

We must learn to live with each other in a way that people can between them in peace," he said.

The purpose of the church is to take people out of the world and bring them into God's kingdom, he said. He believes that God's kingdom is not something to be sought after, but rather to be experienced in the here and now.

Pool Survey Term 'Wasted'

(Continued from Page 1) were signed and submitted with the petition for the swimming pool. Ross said he had been asked to submit his views on the proposal. "I will cost 'no more than $150 to $200 for mailing it' to gain the cost of a consultant," Ross had proposed that a consultant familiar with pool problems and construction be hired.

"What can be" was prompted by the questionnaires? "Ross asked this week. "This is a waste of effort and a waste of money." He maintained "at the same time, something was being accomplished by circulation of petitions. "They are going to ask the same people and get the same answers."

"What could the difference possibly be?" he asked. "Those who sign the petition presently being circulated are obviously in favor and those who are not in favor are not going to sign."

"Is the recreation commission going to ask what shape pool the residents want? As I have stated, it is really a simple matter . . . those who want it."
